

Court Eyes Elevator Installation

Possible installation of an elevator in the county court house is being studied by commissioners' court.

The subject was broached by Commissioner Clarence Beckman who observed that the elevator has been in the budget for more than two years and has not been acted upon.

Beckman said something should be done or the elevator should be taken out of the budget. "I think it should be explored," said Commissioner Bill Butler.

County Clerk Tommy Lair noted that upon the last jury call there was one man who could not serve because his doctor ordered him not to climb the two flights of stairs to the district court room.

County Judge Wayland Angel frequently conducts business in commissioner's court room for people unable, for one reason or another, to climb the stairs to his second floor office.

Commissioner's court Monday politely declined to accept an elephant from KFDD-TV. The television station has been editorializing for a zoo for Amarillo and has collected funds from area school children for purchase of an elephant. The city of Amarillo already has declined the elephant, which apparently has no place to go.

In other business, the commissioners authorized Sheriff L. S. "Slim" Johnston to purchase Texas and US flags needed by the county.

Commissioners heard a salesman who was trying to sell the county a machine to be used, when and if the county adopts the jury wheel method of selecting prospective jurors here.

No action was taken in this matter.

Palo Duro In Life Mag

Palo Duro Canyon will be featured in the June 28 edition of Life Magazine.

Buddy Hoskins and his son Wesley, 12 years old, will be pictured against a background of one of the colorful cliffs of the canyon.

The picture will be printed as a full page ad by the Ethyl Corporation.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park ranger Buddy Hoskins, third from left on horseback, passes instructions across the flooded river in the canyon to Bobby Jack Watson, park ranger, who was flown into the park by helicopter when high waters stranded some 141 campers in the lower end of the canyon park. Hoskins and helpers

Crop Damage Heavy In Downpour Here Sunday

Heavy rains, high winds and in some areas damaging hail, took a heavy toll of crops, property and livestock in Randall County Sunday night.

Rains fell in the county in varied amounts but in nearly every case the moisture fell during an extremely short period of time, causing heavy runoff and resulting flood damages.

Randall County Agent John Brazzil said Tuesday morning that irrigated wheat crops were hard hit.

"We don't like to see 6 inches of rain fall in such a short time," he said. He pointed out that short period rains cause widespread erosion of fields, ditches and farm lands.

"The irrigated wheat was just about ripe and ready to cut. The high winds, hail and heavy rains caused a considerable amount of damage to the irrigated wheat.

"We'll have some replanting of feed crops. A lot of the fields had been planted and the crops hadn't had a chance to get above the ground before the rains hit. It isn't too late to replant," Brazzil said.

The E. E. Plank farm, near Ubarber, received heavy flood damage with many fields washed out until they were level.

Mrs. Plank said, "There were flood waters everywhere. The water even flooded across the road." She said their rain gauge measured 3 1/2 inches from the storm.

Mrs. Plank said her gardens and flowers were almost ruined by the rain and hail and the trees had many large limbs broken and twisted by the high winds.

She said they will have to replant their feed crops as the recently planted fields were leveled by the waters with the terraces broken through and badly eroded in many places. She said they lost their crops of Millet, maize and sweet sudan as well as some damage to about 40 acres of wheat that was about ready for cutting.

Farmer Brown, south of Canyon, reports his farm suffered extensive flooding and erosion with considerable damage to his fences and water gaps. Hail broke out all the screens and windows on the north side of his house, letting the rain and leaves in on the living room floor. He said the house had considerable water damage inside. The water got up all around the house and remained some 14 inches deep in his garage for some time, he said.

Flood waters wiped out much of his feed crops including some 100 acres of maize and sudan he had recently planted. Farmer said the hail killed most of the quail and songbirds on his place as well as many of the rabbits.

As a contrast, the Louis Tuck farm was relatively untouched by the storm. Mrs. Tuck reports they got about one inch of rain but no hail.

Their crop damage was limited to some recently planted Maize and cotton. She said the maize might come up despite the rains, but that the cotton is ruined. She said they received little or no damage to the house.

Four registered Angus heifers were killed on the Richmond Hales farm 3 miles south of Canyon on Highway 87.

The animals were standing by a fence and were found in a pile. Hales theorized that the lightning struck the fence and then surged through the cattle.

He said the high wind did considerable damage to farm buildings. Torrential rain dumped 4 inches of water in a matter of minutes. Draws on the place became roaring rivers, demolishing pasture fence in their way.

Some benefit will come from the rains, especially to the range and pasture grasses, Brazzil said.

"The grass should be strong and vigorous and the cattle should do extra well. The rains added a lot to the sub-soil moisture which will be good for later in the summer when we will need the moisture," he said.

Many localized spots in the county received only incidental moisture with little or no hail. Light thundershowers were forecast for the evenings after the Sunday night downpour, but little came of it. Many county farmers were mending fence by Tuesday and starting preparations for replanting their feed crops.

Canyon Region Dairy Princess Festival Is Slated Saturday Night

Campers Stranded As Floods Rampage

BY JIM THOMAS

Rain, mud, helicopters and floods were mixed into a rescue operation Monday morning at Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

An estimated three inches of rain, falling in less than four hours Sunday night on an already soaked watershed, brought millions of gallons of water and many tons of red mud flooding down Palo Duro Canyon early Monday morning.

Some 141 campers were trapped between the low-water bridges in Palo Duro Canyon State Park by the high water, causing the highway patrol to request a private helicopter to fly rescue and reconnaissance over the stranded campers.

Park Ranger Buddy Hoskins flew into the park in the wingless airplane to check on the campers and give them instructions concerning the possibility of even higher flood waters in the canyon. The campers were all safe, he said.

Hoskins, Edgar Boehm and Joe Carver, the park horse concessionaire, rode up and across Timber Mesa horseback to bring the campers drinking water and to take a survey of the camper's conditions. All were in good health and had enough provisions and equipment to last out Monday night in the Canyon, Hoskins said. More provisions and supplies were carried to the campers late Monday by helicopter.

Several groups of campers were interviewed while still stranded in the canyon. The E. F. Spiess family from San Antonio with their three boys, were equipped with food and good camping equipment, and had parked their camping truck on high ground overlooking the flooding creek. They were sitting on a park road in lawn chairs watching the waters flow by when the horseback rescuers rode up.

Hoskins asked the group if they would like to ride out of the canyon on horseback, but the campers refused when they were told there was no way to get their truck out before the water went down. Hoskins left drinking water with the group and rode on down the canyon to check on the campers.

The R. H. Starks family from St. Louis, Missouri, with their two boys, were camped between water crossings 4 and 5 under one of the camp shelters. They said they were short of drinking water. Hoskins left them a gallon thermos jug of water.

None of the campers interviewed appeared worried about the high water, although most were dismayed when told by Hoskins that they would have to stay where they were for at least another day and possibly two.

The bulk of the campers were located at the restroom in the south end of the park where they had drinking water and electricity. Adaptor, who was also camping in the area, volunteered his services. There is no telephone in the canyon itself.

The waters stayed at a dangerous level until Monday evening.

Jaycees Seek Missing Flags

Merchants who have taken in flags due to rain recently are asked to notify Odell LaGrone of the Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Flags are displayed in front of business houses on holidays for a fee by the Jaycees. Several of these flags are missing.

A Jaycee spokesman said flag contracts are to be renewed July 1.

ing, although campers in the park had to stay situated until Tuesday due to the more than three feet of sediment left on the low-water bridges by the receding waters.

Texas Highway Department road maintainers were called to the scene to scoop the sediment from the bridges before traffic could pass. Traffic was resumed through the park by Tuesday morning.

University President MCF For Show

There was excitement in Canyon this week over the prospect of entertaining more than a score of Panhandle beauties who will gather here Saturday night for the regional Dairy Princess pageant.

The pageant will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the Canyon High School Auditorium with Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State University as master of ceremonies.

Providing musical entertainment during the pageant will be Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Winn, a couple of songsters of area fame.

As well as being a widely known educator, Dr. Cornette is a speaker of note and his services as master of ceremonies at various functions across the Panhandle is much sought-after each year.

An ice cream supper will follow the pageant. It will be held in the school cafeteria.

More than a score of girls from Hereford, Tulsa and Canyon have entered the contest.

Regional contests also will be held in Amarillo and Borger Saturday night with the finals to be held in Amarillo the last week in June.

Each of the three regional winners will receive a $50 cash prize in addition to the chance in the finals. Winner of the finals will be named Texas Panhandle Dairy Princess and will receive a $200 scholarship to the college of her choice.

Contestants will be judged on poise, appearance and their ability to deliver a short speech on the value of milk in our diet, economy and health.

Canyon contestants will meet in the Home Demonstration Agent's office on the first floor of the Randall County court house at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Home demonstration agent, Sally Fields, will give the contestants pointers on poise, appearance and their speeches. She also will give out information as to why milk products are important in the family diet.

Contestants should report to the auditorium by 7 o'clock Saturday night.

A number of Hereford girls are expected to participate in the pageant.

A half dozen girls from Tulsa, among them Miss Linda Sharp, who was runner up last year, will be here for the festival.

Trustees Cool To Expense Proposal

A proposal made last week in a closed session of the Canyon school trustees that Superintendent Joe A. Gibson be paid expenses retroactively met with a cool reception from the majority of the board.

The proposal was advanced by board president, J. O. Parker, who called the executive session following an open meeting.

Sources close to the board indicated that a blanket sum was desired. Purchase of an automobile for Gibson also was suggested.

Parker was reported to have told board members that he consulted a Hereford attorney and had been told that it would be legal to pay Gibson expense money for the past two years.

The same source said Gibson son has regularly drawn reimbursement for expenses incurred in performance of his duties as Canyon school superintendent.

"I've used my own car and never asked for anything on it," Gibson told The Canyon News this week.

"When I would go to Austin or any place like that I put in for a reasonable amount of reimbursement. I've worn out three cars since I've been here."

Gibson said his present car has 112,000 miles on it and that half of that mileage was put on the car for the school.

He described this mileage as "there, there and yonder driving" for which he did not ask the school district for reimbursement.

"The decision rests with the board," he declared.

Parker said he had asked for a committee to study the possibility of retroactive expense payment. He said he dropped the idea after meeting opposition from other board members.

Gibson will wind up a tenure of more than 10 years as Canyon school superintendent July 1 and will be succeeded in that post by Evelyn Laycock.

Board Reaffirms Transfer Policy

Canyon school board Tuesday night reaffirmed a policy of not accepting responsibility for payment of tuition for transfers out of the district when reasonable bus service has been made available to students involved.

School officials said this is a policy of many years standing.

The decision to reaffirm the policy came after the board had heard a plea for consideration by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson. The Johnsons live just inside the Canyon School District and just outside the Amarillo School District in northeast Randall County.

Canyon school next fall will extend a bus route to pick up the Johnson children and 10 other children in the same vicinity.

The Johnsons have three children in the sixth, ninth and eleventh grades.

Superintendent Joe Gibson told the board that each high school or junior high school student transferred to Amarillo costs the Canyon district about $341.47 each, above state aid in such cases where the district feels obligated to assume responsibility for payment. For elementary students the cost is something less.

The district has been footing the bill in cases where reasonable bus service has not been offered to students on the border of the Amarillo district.

Gibson emphasized that the $341 per student is above the state allowance for average daily attendance and represents out of pocket payment by the Canyon School District. Amarillo also receives state money allowed for each student.

posed by the Johnsons.

Lion Carnival Is Slated Next Week

Canyon Lion's Club Carnival will open for the town's entertainment at 6 p.m. next Monday at the Canyon Elementary School.

The carnival will run from Monday through the following Saturday with hours set at 6 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Art Roberts, president of the club, says the same rides will be offered this year as last year with additional booths, including a foods concession sponsored by the Randall County Home Demonstration office and the home demonstration clubs.

Carnival committee for this year includes Art Roberts, Gene McClason, Clarence Eugene Thompson with Bill Wilson helping from the membership at large.

Purposes of the Lion's Club Carnival is to promote civic improvement and community betterment, with profits from the carnival going toward financing these goals, said Roberts.

Profits from last year's carnival went towards financing the new city street markers, to help finance the Babe Ruth League and the Girl Scouts and to help pay for the resuscitator that the Canyon volunteer fire department purchased for the emergency unit. Funds from the carnival also paid for eye glasses for needy Canyon citizens, Roberts said.

In addition to the rides and the food concession, the carnival will feature prize booths, bingo, a ducking booth, throwing at the cats booth and the keg pitch booth.

Roberts said last year's carnival was visited by 300 to 400 persons nightly with a profit in excess of $1500 for the club's civic projects.

Prizes, prizes, and more prizes---to be had at the coming Lion's Club Carnival June 24 through June 29. Holding some of the prizes to be given away at the carnival is Clarence Eugene Thompson and on the right Art Roberts of the Lions Club.

Here is the dairy month royalty from last year. From left are Karen Brewster, Canyon, second runner-up for the title of Panhandle Dairy Princess; Janet Gerald, Canyon, Panhandle Dairy Princess; and Lynda Sharp, Tulia, runner-up. Miss Gerald will place the crown on the head of this year's winner Saturday night.

Highway 87 south of Canyon at the roadside park Sunday from 9:30 until after 2 a.m. Monday.

Traffic was rerouted along Fifth Avenue through Canyon and down Eighth Street behind the high school. Water was crossing Eighth street south of Canyon but not so badly that traffic couldn't pass through, according to city police. Water was less than a foot deep on the road. All traffic except trucks was routed along the detour. Large trucks were allowed to pass through the Highway 87 watercrossing.

Southwestern Public Service Company reports they lost one power pole between Canyon and Umbarger and had numerous instances of falling tree limbs fouling serving lines from power poles to residences in Canyon.

City police said they had no reports of storm damage in Canyon except the large lighted Lot-A-Burger sign on fourth Avenue and 23rd Street. The sign was twisted and broken over on its side by the storm winds.

The telephone company reports considerable storm damage, however, a spokesman for the company said it was nothing out of the ordinary for a stormy night. One telephone cable was damaged by wind and water in the northwest end of town and numerous wires were fouled with falling and blowing tree limbs. Lightning caused some trouble also. The company said there were some 40 cases of damage on their log from the storm.

Rainfall, during the storm in Canyon, did not break any record, unless it was for an amount of rain falling in a half hour period.

The West Texas University weather station recorded some 1.5 inches of rain in half an hour Sunday night, according to Dr. M. B. Measamer, who has charge of the station.

He said a total of 2.81 inches fell during the 24 hour period ending at midnight June 16, bringing the year's total precipitation up to 9.74 inches to date.

Measamer said that 4.98 inches of the year's total fell during the present month of June, more than the previous five months combined.

John Hardaway of Canyon, had to use a boat Sunday night to rescue his livestock southwest of town. High waters had stranded them.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schantz and children, Linda and Lamar, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis, over the week end.

Other guests in the Davis home over the week end were Mrs. W. E. Leach and son Harold, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Guy Harp returned to Canyon for a few days this week. She has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harp in Albuquerque, New Mexico, while Mr. Harp is confined to the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque.

below Lake Stockton Dam in Palo Duro Canyon.

Richard Lott, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Lott of Amarillo, was sucked under by a strong current while swimming in the fast waters below the dam with two friends, Douglas Hyde and Tulley Currie, both of Randall County.

Randall County Sheriff, L. S. "Slim" Johnston, said the Currie boy tried swimming to Lott's aid twice but was threatened with being sucked under himself in the attempts. Johnston said the boy got out of the water and ran along the creek bank trying to keep the drowning boy in sight but finally lost sight of him in the muddy waters.

Johnston and a deputy walked the river downstream Monday afternoon searching for the boy's body while other deputies and volunteers walked upstream from the park. A Texas highway patrolman waited through Monday afternoon and evening at water crossing number one in the park for the body to pass.

Sheriff Johnston called the search off after 6 p.m. Monday when the boy's body was found hung on a rock in the flooded creek 2 miles below the dam. The body was removed to Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Chapel in Amarillo according to the sheriff's department.

Postal authorities say the number will greatly speed up delivery of mail, sometimes as much as 24 hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway Kuykendall and children, Kay and Chris, returned Sunday from a ten-day visit in Dallas with their son and his family Mr. and Mrs. Ken E. Kuykendall.

The Kuykendalls were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cone Johnson and children, Randy and Ronnie, of Happy.

The group attended graduation exercises of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School where Ken received his degree of Doctor of Medicine.

New Play In Mill For BIT

"Penny Wise," a comedy of wit and sophistication done in the Intimate Theater Manner will be presented by the Palo Duro Players June 27, 28 and 29 in the West Texas University Little Branding Iron Theater.

The story takes place in a re-decorated Connecticut farm house on the "Penny Wise" Farm. The house is that of playwright Gordon Chase and his wife, Penny.

Gordon is prone to flirt with the actresses that appear in his plays, but Penny manages to save the marriage in spite of the complications brought on by the romantic-minded young actress friends of her husband. "Penny Wise" was written by Jean Ferguson Black. It is directed by W. A. Moore under the sponsorship of Dr. Crannell Tolliver, chairman of the department of Speech at West Texas University. Margaret Moore is the acting coach and Erin Wertenberger is the technical director.

The play is put on as a part of a summer program of the Summer Theater Workshop Palo Duro Players.

Cast members for "Penny Wise" are Harry Gilstrap as Jeff, Jeanne Houston as Tina, Penny Lynn Massad as Martee, Martin McDonald as Gordon, Lana Hard as Penny, Rose Ellen Parker as Katherine and Don McPherson as Commissioner Dunn.

The play opens June 27 and runs through June 29. The performances start at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Branding Iron Theater with adult tickets at $1 and students at 50c.

An unusual set is being designed for "Penny Wise" by Erin Wertenberger, the technical director for the play.

The sixteenth season of the Summer Theater opened June 14 and 15 with a presentation of "Cloud Seven," a new comedy by Max Wilk. It featured Mary Jo Ondracek and Richard Roberts.

Reservations are now being received for the 4th Annual High School Speech Workshop. Interested persons can obtain additional information by contacting the West Texas University Speech Department.

pared statement, told the board that his two older children already are embarked on courses of study which could not be continued in the Canyon Schools. He said he felt that it would be detrimental to them to change schools.

The children have been attending Amarillo schools up to now with Canyon paying extra tuition. School officials said this has been permitted because the Johnson youngsters have not as yet been offered reasonable school bus service. They said such service would be forthcoming this fall.

Johnson said he thought it would be damaging to his youngest child if he were to be sent to a school other than that attended by his older brother and sister.

Members of the board expressed sympathy for the Johnsons but decided that in such cases the Canyon School District would not be responsible for payment of tuition above the state allowance.

In other action, the trustees appointed a board of equalization after some discussion.

On the board this year will be A. B. Holt, Marion Bruce, Hosea Foster, Aubrey Crossland and Joe Abbott. Crossland and Abbott are two new members replacing Newton Crain, who now is on the school board, and Edd Reynolds. Bruce, Foster and Holt are hold over members of the board.

The board of equalization is scheduled to meet some time next month.

The board took no action on an Amarillo School System request that three sections of land in the Canyon School District belonging to the Eldon Durrett scholarship fund be removed from the tax rolls. Consensus was that the land is revenue bearing and therefore taxable.

Purchase of some $500 in furniture for the band room was approved.

Resignation of Larry Roberts, a counsellor, was accepted. He plans to attend East Texas State and do post graduate work.

Four new teachers were hired. They include Mrs. L. J. Witkowski and Mrs. R. B. Gist, Jr., both of Canyon, Mark Wayne Clapp of Borger and Gary Steinberger of Stratford.

Bids of $175 on an old school bus and $51 on a panel truck were accepted.

Visiting with Mrs. Josie A. Combs over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Atkins of Big Spring.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Combs were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Lowe of Amarillo.

Lovelace-Wagner Vows Exchanged In Church Rites

Nuptial vows were solemnized for Miss Lois Jean Lovelace and Charles E. Wagner in a ceremony last Saturday evening at the Assembly of God Church in Canyon.

The double ring rites were read by Rev. Carl Wagner, father of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lovelace of Groom are parents of the bride. Wagner is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Carl Wagner of Canyon.

Appropriate pre-nuptial selections were presented at the organ by Elaine Thornburg of Pampa. "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Barbara Kinnaman of Pampa.

The church was decorated with large baskets of white gladioli, lavender and purple asters, and greenery. Candelabra holding white tapers were placed on each side of the altar amid floral arrangements of white gladioli, lavender and purple asters. Ribbons highlighting the arrangements were in shades of purple and lavender. Family pews were marked with white satin bows and glitter wedding bells.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father the bride wore a dress of white bridal satin. The bodice featured chantilly lace over satin and tulle with a sweetheart styled neckline and long fitted sleeves that came to a bridal point on top of the hand. The bodice came to a point in the back at the waistline and was fastened with small satin covered buttons. Soft pleats draped from the skirt into a short chapel train.

The finger-tip bridal veil of illusion was held in place by a small crown of seed pearls. A lavender orchid was the central feature of the bridal bouquet which was carried atop a white Bible. White carnations were the setting for the lavender orchid. The bride wore a gold lavalliere belonging to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Clyde Blount, as something old. The bridal veil was borrowed from Mrs. Bill Glenn, sister of the groom. She wore a lucky penny in her shoe.

Long white gloves and white accessories complemented their attire.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Frank Blowers, aunt of the bride. Mrs. R. E. Daly, aunt of the groom, served the wedding cake. Mixed nuts and mints were also served to the guests.

Wynona Pritchard of Pampa presided at the guest register. Marinelle Blowers and Eldon Blount, cousins of the bride, stood at the serving table and handed out small bags of rice that were wrapped in net and tied with lavender ribbons.

For a wedding trip to Red River, New Mexico, the bride traveled in a pink linen suit with pink and beige accessories. She wore the lavender orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet as a corsage.

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

The latest thing to hit the art market is "pop art." "Pop art" (could just as well be called "mom art") is the catchall label to describe a new kind of fine art which has popular art connections at its core. In general, "pop art" artists have two things in common. They have drawn all their imagery from popular art; from commercial and advertising art, from trademarks and billboards and signs, from newspapers, tabloids, and magazines, from movies and photographs and television and comic strips, and from the freeway and highway, the supermarket and the assembly line. They have, more or less in common a new and special interest in the nature of reality and illusion. This is the definition of "pop art" by Aline B. Saarinen for Vogue.

One of these artists, Andy Warhol, clutters his small temporary quarters with huge, unwinding rolls of canvas dyed violent pink, orange, and poison-apple green. Some colossal pieces of canvas are stretched on 7 foot-high stretchers. On one wall are his "pop art" props: cans of Campbell's Soup and Dole Pineapple Juice. Roy Lichtenstein paints four foot golf balls. Six foot ice cream sodas draw your immediate attention to his work. Really??

James Rosenquist does billboard size paintings (after all he really once was a billboard painter). In one of his untitled works (no wonder), the two detached squares of canvas on the blue sky show his conviction that man wants to "impose his will, his control, leave his mark on nature"...There surely must be a better way to leave one's mark! This artist cuts up large pictures of movie stars and rearranges their faces in odd ways and throws in a few other odds and ends of pictures to tell a message, or confuse the viewer.

The museum of Modern Art is now showing a "Pop Art" show, titled "Americans 1963". Mr. Miles A. Smith says this about the current show: "In this show there are 15 assorted persons--about evenly divided among painters, sculptors and certain hybrids who seemingly haven't decided whether they are painters, sculptors, or doodlers.

"It is a show that even the sharpies may find a little tired, for even the flair-and-novelty set must be getting a little calloused about wall hangings of dessicated eggs or "sculptures" composed of rusty tin cans."

Mr. James Rosenquist (the billboard artist mentioned above) is in this art exhibit. His paintings, says Mr. Smith, appear to be paintings composed of "large unrelated billboard posters re-assembled."

Mrs. Hattie Brasuel returned recently from a visit with her son's family. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brasuel, in Cuba New Mexico. She attended her granddaughter's wedding while visiting in New Mexico.

Week end guests in the Murray Boston home were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loter, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vaughn all of Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Boston and daughter of Odessa.

Classified ads get results.

One shouldn't miss the work of Jason Seley which is welded steel automobile bumpers or David Simpson paintings of strips! You haven't lived if you haven't seen Claes Oldenburg's chunks of plaster which have been splashed with lurid enamel colors; some which resemble undigestible pastries, confectons, or a pair of cheeseburgers.

I'm sure the Modern Museum must keep up with the fads and the trends, but does the public have to agree? What critic has the nerve to say this is good, interesting or even art?

Canyon Man Back From Fishing Trip

Claude Rea of Canyon and friends returned recently from a week fishing trip to Bahia Kino on the west coast of Old Mexico. Bahia Kino is 80 miles west of Hermosillo.

The trip was taken by 8 local fishermen including Claude Rea of Canyon, Henry Wilson of Amarillo, Charles Altman of Amarillo, Bud Whitefield of Amarillo and Doug Brunson of Amarillo.

The group left Canyon last May 29 and drove to Nogales. From Nogales they followed through to Hermosillo and then west to Kino Bay on the Pacific Ocean. The trip down amounted to about 1000 miles from Canyon.

The fishermen camped at the north end of Tirosos Island on Kino Bay. Rea said it is a beautiful land, though dry. Some of the cacti get to be higher than a man's head, he said. Other desert cacti plants are used by the natives to build their houses. There were no settlements near the fishing site, he said.

The group took two 17-foot boats with 75 horsepower outboards for power. They traveled in a 1-ton truck and a 1/2 ton pickup. They also carried an electric light plant and a portable freezer to transport the fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Woodward and daughters, Ielene and Ianelle, visited with relatives in Oklahoma City, Purcell and Lindsey, Oklahoma, last week.

Mrs. Richmond Hales and son, Rod, Mrs. Bob Wilkinson and Floyd Tomlinson visited in Tucson, Arizona, over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Williams.

Fishing was pretty good. The fishermen caught mostly white sea bass which ranged up to 100 pounds per fish, according to Rea. The grouper they caught went up to 130 pounds each and the yellow tail jack up to 25 pounds.

Rea said the red snapper went up to 15 pounds and Pintos went up to 10 pounds.

Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson and Ronda Hales returned to Canyon with Mrs. Hales. They had been in Tucson for 10 days after traveling there by plane.

Marjorie Irlbeck and Tom Irlbeck are spending the summer months with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Irlbeck.

Marjorie is a teacher in Denver, Colorado, and Tom is a student at the Assumption Seminary in San Antonio where he is preparing for the Catholic priesthood.

Rain everywhere. Texas lakes, for the first time in several years, at least in this part of the country, have received more than their share of moisture. From frog ponds to giant reservoirs, lakes in north Texas are full to overflowing. South and Central Texas Lakes, however, are in the opposite state of affairs.

Lake Stockton is fuller than full with more than six feet of water going over the main spillway from dawn Monday to late that afternoon.

Despite constantly erroneous reports that Buffalo Lake was going over the spillway, it is still within its bounds. The staff at the refuge on Buffalo Lake keep close tabs on the water level situation and are to be considered the accurate source of information on the lake level. Bob Brown, manager of the refuge, said Tuesday morning that the lake is about 3 feet below the spillway. He said the creek feeding the lake is full of water but within its bounds and not likely to get out.

We hope the lake doesn't go over because of the shad problem from below the dam. The shad can swim up the spillway if it flows from the lake.

Weldon Fromm and the area game wardens presented a public Texas Game and Fish Commission regulatory authority meeting June 13 at Randall County Courthouse to present the existing and proposed game laws for this portion of the Panhandle. Purpose of the meeting, which was one of several across the Panhandle, was to give the public a chance to have their say about the game and fish regulations in the area.

As usual, few people showed up. Officers from the Randall County Sportsman's Club were there, excepting this writer who had to cover a story in the canyon at the time of the meeting. Several other interested sportsmen were there and a few questions were asked but no objections raised to the existing and proposed regulations.

Weldon Fromm, who is the game and fish district conservation official for this area, headed up the meeting. A proposed Aoudad sheep hunt was presented to the group present. The hunt was recommended by Richard DeArment and Phil Evans, game and fish biologists who have been assigned to keep tabs on the recently planted sheep.

The proposed hunt, which still must be approved this summer by the game and fish commission, will be by special permit only with the permits signed over to the individual landowners according to how many sheep the biologists think should be harvested from their individual plots of land. Dates for the proposed hunt were set at December 13 to December 15.

Open season in the Panhandle on quail may be extended, according to information given out at the meeting. The new season may start 15 days sooner and end 15 days later. Dates for the new season are from November 16 to Jan. 31. This extension on quail also has yet to be approved.

Lonnie Peters of the fish laboratory in Canyon, says the recent rains should considerably improve the fish habitat, though not necessarily fishing success. The rains should step up the fish spawning and that might add to the fishing activity, he said.

If anyone finds some large bass, carp, crappie, etc., in the creek in Palo Duro Canyon, don't jump off the bridge and think fishing will improve in the creek. The fish are just some that washed over the spillway at Lake Stockton Monday morning when the flash flood hit the lake.

Bobby Jack Watson, one of the rangers at Palo Duro Canyon State Park, noticed a large black bass flopping around in an eddy near one of the low water bridges while the flood was passing through the canyon. Bobby Jack picked the fish up, said, "Looky here!" and properly put it back into the Gulf of Mexico bound flood waters. bass in Palo Duro Canyon!

Farmer Brown and friends lit out for a fishing trip into New Mexico last week with little luck. He says the crappie season is about over there, though they are still pulling in the pike.

David Cunningham of Center, Colorado, is visiting for several days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Bolton and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cunningham. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cunningham.

Mrs. Cambell's Mother Suffers Arm Fracture

Mrs. C. R. Warren, Amarillo, suffered a broken arm when she slipped and fell while fishing during a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Canyon.

Mrs. Warren was fishing near the Campbell home just north of Canyon.

The accident occurred Saturday afternoon.

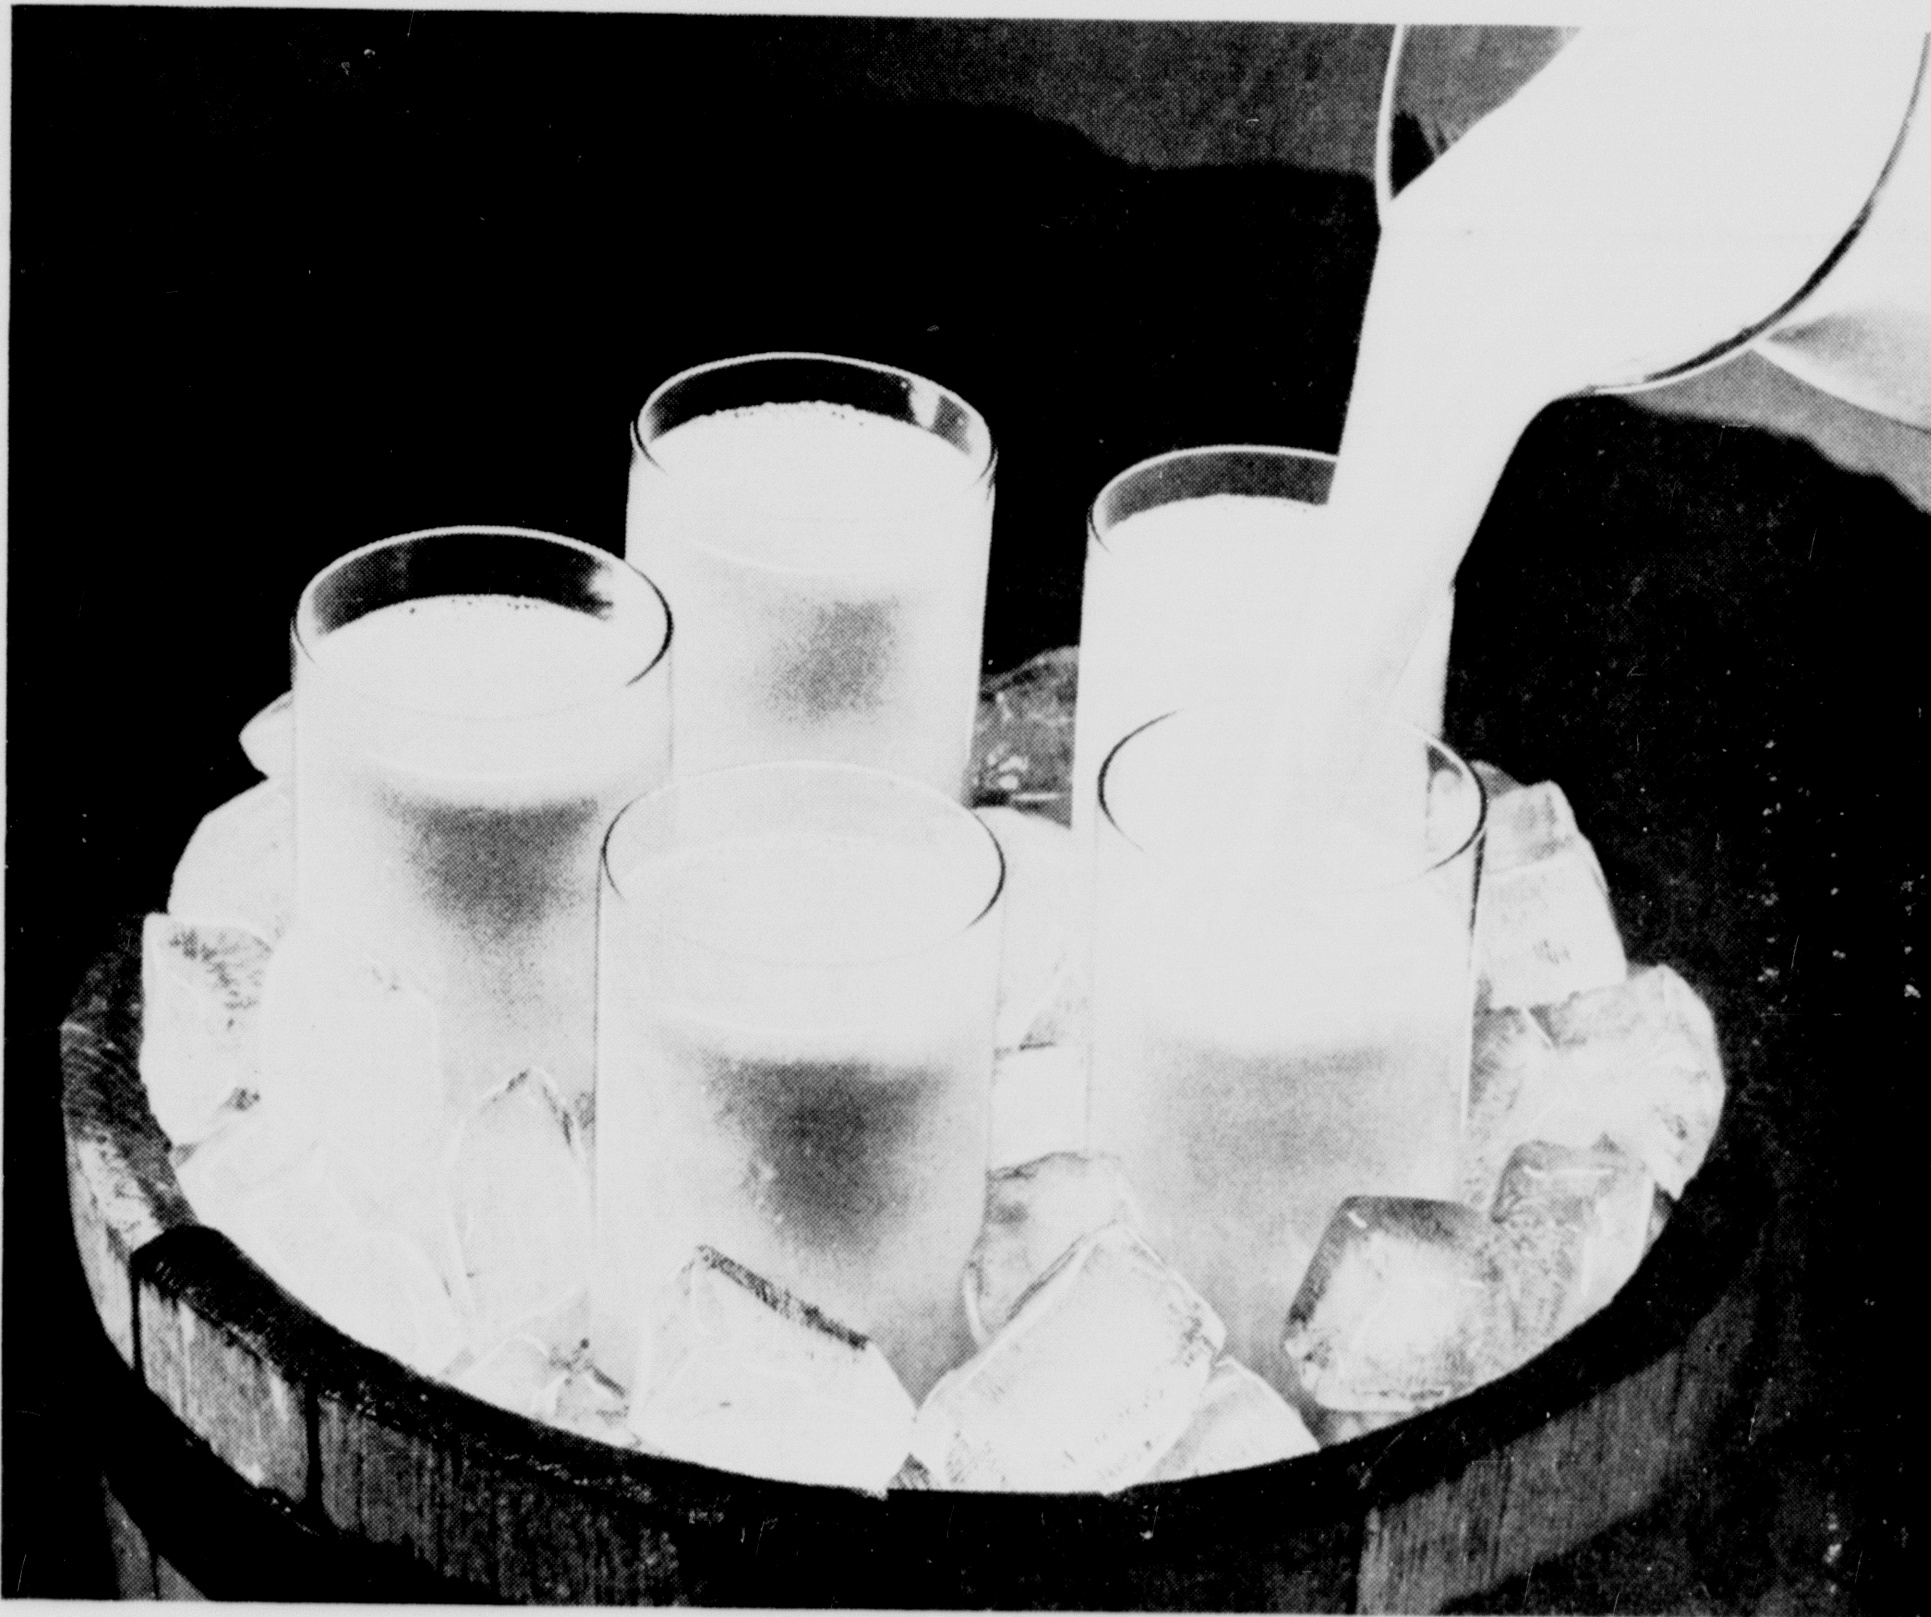

Mrs. Warren lost a diamond ring. She believes it may have been lost somewhere between the office of Dr. Dudley Moore and Neblett Hospital. It is a yellow gold ring with a solitaire diamond. Anyone finding such a ring should get in touch with Mrs. Campbell.

Home Economists Lecture On Freezing Food At CHS

"Freezing Foods" was the subject of a demonstration given by two home economists from the Southwestern Public Service Company at a meeting in the homemaking department at Canyon High School last Friday afternoon.

The economists gave demonstrations on preparing foods for the freezer. Food coloring was added to the water in which green beans were steamed to add a bright color to the frozen beans. A water softener was added to the boiling water for dipping peaches to make them peel easier. The peaches were cooled quickly, peeled, sliced and ascorbic acid was added to prevent discoloration. They were packed in a sugary syrup for freezing. Strawberries and meats were also prepared during the demonstration program.

Quality of foods selected for freezing were stressed by the economists. Foods should be frozen in air tight packages at 10 degrees below freezing for best results.

Thirty-five girls who are taking the half credit course in foods at the high school this summer attended the meeting. Several mothers and the sponsors, Mrs. Clara Long and Mrs. Gaylene Stover, were in attendance.

Binky Bagwell drew the winners for the door prizes of Avon lipstick. A German chocolate cake was won by Mrs.

Vernon, grandmother of Carol Anderson. Winners of Banana Nut Bread were Mickey Davis and Karen Corey. Cookies were won by Lynn Stevens and Nancy Hicks.

The girls will attend demonstrations on Foods today at the Flame Kitchen at the Pioneer Gas Company. Home economists for the companies will present the demonstration.

"Party Foods" will be demonstrated at the Southwest Public Utility Company's new kitchen on Friday afternoon. The girls attending will travel by bus.

Pirates Get Nod On Disputed Ball Game

BY GEORGE deSCHWEINITZ
The disputed game between the Giants and the Pirates of last week was decided in the favor of the Pirates, who had won the game.

The dispute, which was purely technical, arose over a pitching assignment. The State Babe Ruth director, Al Kasparek, gave the ruling.

Monday night, in another make-up game, the Giants defeated the White Sox, 12 to 8. The game was closer than the score indicates, as the White Sox caused the Giants to use three pitchers. Gary McAttee, Gary Prichard and finally Bruce Winn, were used to slow the Giant's rush.

The best term for the Giants is "surging." After a wobbly start, they have come on in a rush and now play heads-up ball. Dale Evan's return to the lineup, after a brief absence for harvesting, steadied the Giant's pitching staff enough to get it past the White Sox menace. The Younger players, getting try-outs with both these clubs, acted like rookies trying to make good in the Big Leagues.

Their spirit is indicative of the general spirit in the Babe Ruth League this year. No team acts down on its luck, no matter how the breaks seem to go against it.

On Saturday, June 15, the Pirates defeated the White Sox with the score at 12 to 11. That night, the Giants barely got past Umlberger, which had a last inning, do-or-die chance to get ahead in the game. Umlberger had been gaining but flubbed their chance when two men wound up on second base and the ball was thrown to first base for the final out.

Team standings for the week are:
Cardinals--7 wins and 2 losses with 1 game to make up; Pirates--7 wins and 3 losses; Giants--6 wins and 4 losses; White Sox--4 wins and 5 losses with 1 game to make up; Happy Yankees--2 wins and 5 losses with 3 games to make up; Umlberger Colts--2 wins and 7 losses with 1 game to make up.

David Rossi of the Pirates, was instrumental in the good playing.

FRIGIDAIRE THE FAMILY REFRIGERATOR

This lovely family is that of Mrs. Carl Hartman, Jr., who has been chosen by Anderson Appliance as June Housewife of the month.
Pictured with Mrs. Hartman are four of her five children, Marvin, 8; Duane 4; Juanita, 6; and Floyd 2. The fifth child in the Hartman family, Dennis age 10, was a little camera shy and is not pictured here.
Mrs. Hartman's husband, Carl, Jr., is a farmer in the Umbarger community.
The Hartman family has been Frigidaire customers for 11 years now and are very pleased with them. All with good reason too, because the Frigidaire refrigerator in their home has been running trouble-free all this time.
Mrs. Hartman has a Frigidaire refrigerator, washer, dryer, and dish washer.
When asked about her appliances Mrs. Hartman replied, "...with four boys to keep clean, I have come to depend on my washer and dryer so very much. I get such a clean wash and my dryer dries my clothes so fluffy and soft. I am just so happy with them."
"Talk about pleasure," she continued, "I really enjoy my Frigidaire dish washer. With this large family and all the cooking that goes with farm life it is really a big help to me. I just don't know how I ever managed without it."
As to the service at Anderson Appliances Mrs. Hartman said, "What service we have needed has been prompt and courteous, however, with our Frigidaire appliances very little service has been needed. They have operated almost trouble free."
You too can be a satisfied, happy appliance owner if you get Frigidaire appliances. Go in now and talk to Andy at Anderson Appliances 1515 4th Ave. in Canyon.

In the upper left picture scouts are being taught hundreds of knots and varied uses for ropes. Staff Member Tyler Thompson demonstrates some scout knots for boys earning merit badges in that field. At upper right is the archery range where boys are taught skills with the bow and arrow. In charge of this phase of scout training is Carl Kitscher, on loan from Amarillo Air Force Base. At left, Tyler Thompson demonstrates use of the hand axe. Scouts are from left Jim Roan, Amarillo, A. V. Davis and Roger Gist, both of Canyon, and Kenny Light of Amarillo. Middle right is the dining hall at the camp. At lower left Charles Ellis, on loan from the Air Force, watches the targets as Mike Fair of Amarillo shoots from the prone position. Safety is of prime importance. Scouts behind Ellis and Fair are Greg Faith and Guy Bralley of Amarillo and Randy Warren of Canyon who is rated as a National Rifle Association Expert, and Mark Roe of Amarillo. At lower right, A/2c Robert Paul, on special loan from Amarillo Air Force Base, administers first aid treatment to Randy McLaughlin of Amarillo. Randy suffered from poison ivy and sun burn on the feet. He is a camp staff member.

Who Pays?

(An Editorial)

Administrative overhead of any socialized welfare service is so great that the people who foot the bill are invariably left holding the bag.

Let's take the social security system, for instance. It was established in 1937 on the theory that it would provide benefits not available under a private plan.

Let's now take a look at what actually happens.

A man who goes to work at 21--on his own and through his employer--contributes about $18,000 by the time he is 65 years of age. If that same money were banked at 4 1/4 per cent compounded quarterly, he would accumulate about $50,000 by retirement.

This investment would bring in at 4 1/4 percent an income of $2,125 annually while social security would provide him with only $1,524. Social security also terminates upon death except for very small benefits to widows. It builds no cash reserve.

There is very little the socialists can do that---left alone by government---private enterprise cannot do better.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The Baseball edition of the Canyon News is certainly worthy of commendation, and you are to be congratulated.

I imagine many boys and their parents have read it from first page to last, and that many copies will find their way to grandparents and other relatives who do not live in Canyon.

To those of us in this community, the material is a revelation of the great number of busy fathers and mothers who are giving time to provide a wholesome and happy summer for their own sons and for all the boys of Canyon. All this gives us pride and faith in our community.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. T. V. Reeves

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Paul Allingham is publisher of The Atchinson Globe in Atchinson, Kan. This is the paper that once was run by Ed Howe, the famed Sage of Potato Hill.

Paul, who is a son-in-law of Mrs. T. T. Fain of Canyon, manages to retain the spice which made The Globe world famous in the days of the Sage.

Here's a headline kicker on the female Russian cosmonaut: "Commie Cutie to Go Into A Spin." Another headline on page 1 reads "Prof. Anderson Gave His Daughter a 5-Year Diary and Had An Extra Key Made For Himself."

Paul used to be advertising manager for the Howe papers in Amarillo. Incidentally, Gene

Joe Gidden To Head KC

Joe Gidden was elected as Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus at a meeting held Tuesday night of last week.

Other officers elected were Bernard Hartman, Deputy Grand Knight; Vincent Ramackers, Chancellor; L. L. Raef, recorder; Clarence Kern, treasurer; Anton Handing, advocate; Alfred Buecker, warden; Willie Artho, inside guard; Johnny Batenhorst, outside guard; and Leonard Batenhorst, trustee.

About 50 attended the meeting.

Honor Roll Corrected

Canyon High School students listed on the B honor roll for the second semester of the recent school term were corrected by Mrs. Orla Hughes, secretary to the principal, this week. Students must have no grade lower than a B for this honor listing.

Omitted in last week's report were Steve Miller, Phyllis Mott, Red Parker, Rose Ellen Parker, Bobby Kaye Parsons, Sharon Read, Diane Reynard, Bill Richey, Deandra Shapley, Jackie Stone, Cynthia Taylor, Jo Troth, Lucy Tuck, and Randy Warren.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Hubbard have been Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones and daughters, Cathy and Cindy, of Borger and Mrs. Bill McDonald and sons, David and Larry, of Brownfield.

Howe, The Tactless Texan, was a son of the Sage of Potato Hill.

Allingham writes a column called "The Tactless lawhawk-er" and refers to himself as Old Jay. We never had the privilege of reading The Globe in the days of Ed Howe but if the Sage of Potato Hill put out any better newspaper than Old Jay he was one heck of a newspaperman.

Commissioners' court is again talking about installing an elevator at the court house. It's going to cost something like $15,000 but the court house is in good shape and with remodeling that has been done there during the past few years it shouldn't need replacement for many years to come.

One prospective juror could not serve on a recent jury because he couldn't make it up the stairs. A lot of elderly folks have to transact business with the county judge in the commissioner's court room on the first floor because they simply can't climb up to his second floor office.

Personally, we think an elevator would be a good investment.

We'd like to hear from the folks who are going to foot the bill---John Q. Public. Let's have some letters on the subject.

We have a teenager at our house this summer and her presence has been a revelation. We chanced to hear a tune called "Ahab the Arab" a year or two back and couldn't believe our ears.

Now get a load of the latest musical offering, a ballad about a dying Australian stockman. This ditty is called "Take Care O Me Kaingarae Sport." This stricken --- and no wonder --- Aussie also admonishes his pal to: "Mind the palatapus Duck Chuck."

If it pleases the kids, it sure pleases us. In fact, we kind of like it. Also we do not care to mix it with a bunch of irate teenagers whose music has been insulted. If some bloke did me in there's no one at our 'ouse to take care O me Kaingarae.

Some new rest rooms are being constructed at Palo Duro State Park. We suggest that H. M. Baggerly of Tulsa be invited to make the speech of dedication.

He's such a natural for the task.

A salesman we know came home one night to find his young son sitting on the curb outside the house, a brooding expression on his face.

"What's the matter son?" he asked. "Aw," said the boy bitterly, "I just had a big fight with your wife."

AROUND THE TOWN (with kids)

Leslie Davis was five years old Friday and for a birthday present he and his family went to Dallas and Six Flags. They visited his great uncle Perry Slagle of Dallas while they were there.

Coming back they went out to Lake Grapevine and fished. They all had a whole lot of fun.

Gail Swatzell and her family have been on a trip to El Dorado, Texas; Harper, Texas and Sentinel, Texas, to visit her grandmother. Karla Swatzell is still at her grandmother's house. Gail said, "All we did was just play around." She had a whole lot of fun. I would, too, if I went to so many places between these dates! Left, June 6, arrived home June 14!

Riddle
I touch but one
Though I always join two
I am on hand
After two say, "I do."
What am I?

Answer to last week's riddle: An Echo.

Mike Swatzell has been playing baseball and a couple of weeks ago, he and his family went to Possum Kingdom with the Boy Scouts. While they were there they fished a lot. And one night they set out a trot line and next morning there was an alligator gar and a terapan on it. He has been having a whole lot of fun.

4. Since enlightened mind, supported by virtue (good character) is the guardian genius of democracy, American Negroes as a whole are not yet qualified to discharge the duties and responsibilities of full and complete citizenship in this republic. For example, as has been pointed out in this column heretofore, official statistics show that illiteracy and crime prevail much more generally in this country among Negroes than among whites. Of course, it is true that the white man is responsible for this situation in no small degree, but it is also true that his attitude toward the Negro and his treatment of him was improving from year to year before the NAACP began to stir up strife and resort to extreme measures. Little Rock, Oxford, and Birmingham are good examples of NAACP's indiscretion and radicalism.

5. It is admitted here that there is a considerable number of Negroes who are thoroughly capable of discharging fully all the duties of good citizenship. A few of them have made such notable contribution to our collective welfare as to give them rank with the top leaders of our country. Moreover in certain areas of our common life individual Negroes have demonstrated outstanding ability, as in music, education athletics, and statesmanship.

It is a further fact that there are millions of whites who are liabilities to this country--many of them ranking high in public esteem. Some of them exercise considerable influence upon public policy and our economic and social life. In reality a bad white man is just as poor a citizen in a republic as a bad black man, or a bad man of any other color. It is unfortunate that history has made color an important factor in one's qualifications for full and complete citizenship in our republic.

6. In this connection your attention is called to the fact that the condition of which the Negro complains is not so much a matter of discrimination in legal rights as in history, tradition, and custom. Negro slavery was introduced into Virginia in 1619 as a sort of extension of the slave trade that had long existed in the Old World. For almost two and a half centuries it flourished and sank its roots into the very foundations of economic, cultural, and social life, particularly in the South. And it is not out of place here to observe that the only reason slavery did not follow a similar course in the North was the fact that northern agriculture and industry didn't find Negro labor profitable.

Of the 344 years since he was brought to this country he has had only 98 years of freedom. In that relatively short period he has made truly wonderful progress. In no other instance in history has a slave race risen under new-found freedom so rapidly as has the Negro in America. But deeply rooted and long established institutions are not quickly up-rooted, even when abolished by law.

If the Negro should now obtain all he seeks it is doubtful if racial relationships would be much improved for many years to come. In the meantime there has been almost irreparable loss.

This column cannot go along with those NAACP leaders who say that "wait" means "never." History shows that social evolution moves with more certainty and far less suffering and sacrifice than does revolution. Complete participation in a free society must be earned, and the American Negro, as a whole, has not proved his capacity for such responsibility. Read your morning paper--most any paper most any morning--for verification of this statement.

P. S. Not only must the Negro earn his equal right to participate in and help direct our social, economic and political structure but it is equally important that the whites shall continuously earn these same privileges if they expect to remain free.

Many Canyon Scouts In Camp At Don Harrington

BY JIM THOMAS
Camp Don Harrington is a place worth visiting—for an hour, a day or a week!
Sited in Palo Duro Canyon where Palo Duro Creek crosses Washington Street, Camp Don Harrington is the center of year round scouting activities for more than 6000 Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts of the Llano Estacado Council of the High Plains of Texas. Camp officials say that more than 4100 boys from the council spend at least one over-night camp at Camp Don Harrington each year.
The 550 acre camp is administered by Camp Director Monty Stokes, a quiet spoken, though numerous professional scouting executive who bears a strong resemblance in speech and character to Will Rogers. The land for the camp was given to the Boy Scouts of America in 1947 by Don Harrington, an Amarillo financier, who as a member of the executive board of the Llano Estacado Council, gave the land to the scouts so they would have a place to hold their yearly scouting activities.

Facilities and land included, the camp is worth about one half million dollars, according to Stokes.
Camp director Stokes says the camp actually belongs to the people of the Llano Estacado which covers some 9 Texas Panhandle counties.

He says the camp is used by the institutions in the area that sponsor the Llano Estacado Scout troops.

"Since scouting is an integral part of the sponsoring organization's youth programs, these institutions use the camp to carry out their scouting programs under leadership approved by the scout sponsors," he said.

Canyon scout troops using the camp this week are Troop 31, sponsored by the Canyon First Methodist Church with Meredith Warren as scout master; Troop 66, sponsored by the Canyon First Christian Church, with Oscar Hinger as scout master and Troop 108, sponsored by the Canyon Rotary Club with Odell LaGrone as scout master.

Camp director Stokes says, "Each scout troop plans the program it would like to follow for the one week it spends at summer camp."

"They get together months before they go to camp. The boys themselves plan what they would like to do at camp. They take their plans before the planning council or their sponsor which either approves or recommends changes in the plans. The planning council has the responsibility for the troop's leadership, its program and its meeting place. The planning council forms a governing body for the individual troop."

"During summer camp, an average of 750 to 800 boys use the facilities. The maximum use has been some 180 boys in any one week, although there are usually about 150 boys in camp."

"One of the major aims of Camp Don Harrington is to advance scouts from the tenderfoot class to second class and then to first class scouts.

"The camp also strives to help the boys complete the merit badges of their choosing such as swimming, life saving, camp, cooking, signaling, first aid, nature, soil and water conservation, Indian lore, marksmanship, wildlife management, fishing and archery."

"The average boy in summer camp earns about 2 merit badges a week. The maximum per week would be about 4."

"When a scout troop comes to Don Harrington, it comes in as a unit under its own leaders. The troop never loses its identity, camping on their individual campsites under their own leadership. They also come as a unit to the camp mess hall where they eat together family style. The camp mess hall is probably the closest the boys get to a home like atmosphere at Don Harrington."

Stokes gives emphasis that each troop is responsible only to its own leaders and not to the camp.

"The camp staff is here only to serve the sponsoring organizations by helping their boys to camp," Stokes said.

Prominent among the facilities at Camp Don Harrington are the numerous new steel buildings which were either donated to the camp or were built with money from the capitol funds campaign.

Among the facilities of which the scouts are very proud is the large L-shaped swimming pool which is situated on the edge of the Palo Duro Creek bank. Tall cottonwood trees and towering cliffs form a fitting camp background for the safety engineered swimming pool.

A registered full-time instructor with life saving credentials is at the edge of the pool during swimming activities. Tommy Lambert is the full-time director. He is also the camp chaplain and a Baptist minister from Amarillo.

Perhaps the favorite camp facility is the stone and wood dining hall where meals are served to the staff and campers during the summer camp. The scouts are encouraged to cook out at least three meals during their stay at Don Harrington. A new steel two-bedroom house was recently constructed to house the three full-time cooks who prepare the camp meals. The cooks, who are appreciated by all at the camp are Mrs. O. H. Crowell and Mrs. Harry Green of Canyon and Mrs. Dama Williams of Amarillo.

Other important facilities include the steel first aid health center building which is the center of first aid and health care for the camp.
Camp health is administered by two Amarillo Air Force Base Airmen who are on official loan to the camp from the base. The airman, who are medics in the Air Force, treat the boys for their minor hurts and ills such as small cuts and bruises, sunburn and sore muscles. Serious injuries and illness are treated at Neblett Hospital in Canyon where the camp has the services of Dr. Dudley Moore. The two airman are Michael Graham, who is a Life Scout, and Robert Paul who is an Eagle Scout.

The camp recently constructed two single room lodge buildings with brick fire places to serve double duty during the scouting year.

During summer camp activities one lodge houses the camp nature exhibits while the other building contains the camp store. During the 46 months of the year when summer camp is not in session, the two lodge buildings are used as shelter for campers during severe weather.

The nature center lodge has on exhibit the plants, animals and rocks of the region. The center is run by Sam Stennis of Amarillo, who is a full-time summer staff member. Stennis conducts regular nature hikes with talks about the nature of the plants and animals of the Palo Duro Canyon. His job is to help boys earn their merit badges.

The camp store has all the camp supplies and craft materials the scouts might need to stay at camp and complete their merit badges. It also handles camp souvenirs, candles and cold drinks.

Another of the new steel buildings in use at the camp is the large modern administration building. Though not used by the camping scouts, the administration building is important to the efficient and safe operation of the camp.

It also houses the offices for the camp director and his assistants as well as a camp planning room used by all scouts masters and their assistants to program their activities while in camp. The administration building houses a large storage room for camp equipment not usually brought to camp by the scouts.

Officials of Camp Don Harrington recently decided to use steel buildings for all new construction because of their economy and low cost of maintenance. The buildings are constructed of formed sheets of steel with layers of fiberglass insulation sandwiched in between. Camp officials say the buildings work exceptionally well and are modern and attractive in appearance. The buildings have been approved for use by the National Engineering Council of The Boy Scouts of America.

In addition to the numerous steel buildings, the campsports several special use areas where scouting activities are carried out.

High on the side of the cliff in an old excavation, is the camp rifle range, complete with backstop, shelter for the marksmen and a storage for the guns and equipment. At the rifle range are drinking water and a special red flag that is raised on a pole when shooting is in progress.

Using standard National Rifle Association safety procedures, a trained airman from Amarillo Air Force Base supervises the shooting activities of the scouts while they are in summer camp. Charles Ellis is the instructor. A nearby archery range under the safety conscious direction of Carl W. Kitcher, provides similar instruction in the art of arrow shooting. Ellis is the technical advisor for Explorer Patrol 100 of Amarillo Air Force Base. The patrol is noted for its archery experts. Kitcher is also on loan to the camp from the air base.

Other special areas of Camp Don Harrington include the 20 acre picnic grounds for Cub Scouts and their families. The picnic area is open at any time to the Cub Scouts and their families. The area has picnic tables, cooking grills and drinking water. Clean rest rooms are nearby.

The camp employs the services of numerous staff scouts who instruct the boys in the various merit badge requirements.

Ray Moore is a full-time camp ranger who maintains the entire camp and its facilities. He and his family live the year round in a three bedroom residence provided by the camp.

Included in the special use areas are the nature and soil and water conservation use grounds. These areas plus the pioneering skills areas are used to help the scouts learn the skills for their merit badges in these fields.

Still other use areas are the camping, cooking and camp crafts locations.

Time Left To Register For WT's Music Camp

There still is time for registration of a limited number of students for the West Texas State University summer music camp, according to Dr. Ted Crager, head of the university's department of music.

The camp will begin July 14 and continue through July 26, Dr. Crager reported. It is one of the largest camps of its type in the southwest. More than 400 students attended the camp last year.

Crager pointed out that expert instruction will be afforded those who attend. Choral and instrumental instruction will be included. Well-known high school and college instructors will be on the staff.

One of the features this year is instruction for the band beginner. Students must have their own instruments when they report to the camp.

Tuition for the camp is $25. A program of planned recreation will be held each evening.
For further information contact the university's music department.

Five Scouts Get Order Of Arrow At Harrington

Five Canyon Boy Scouts were tapped for the Order of the Arrow, Thursday night of last week at Camp Don Harrington.

The Order of the Arrow is the highest recognition a group of scouts can give a member of their group.

Andy Moreland and Mike McBroom from Troop 66 and Stoney Ormsby, Mike LaGrone and Mark Raillard from Troop 31, were the honored scouts.

The Order of the Arrow, highest recognition of scouting skills, fellowship and good character, shows that a particular scout being brought into the Order is considered to have achieved the highest status among his fellow scouts and scout leaders.

Since its beginning, the Order of the Arrow has been awarded to several thousand scouts across the nation. To become a member of the Order, and indeed to stay a member, scouts must meet high qualifications and continue to show the scouting excellence for which they were recognized.

The Order of the Arrow was founded on Treasure Island, the Philadelphia Council Scout Camp, in 1915 by Dr. E. Urner Goodman, then the director of the camp.

Dr. Goodman, with his assistant, Carroll A. Edison, originated the ideas that later became the basis for the nationwide Boy Scout honor society.

It is said in the scout manual on the Order of the Arrow that the directors of the Philadelphia Council camp thought it best "...to have some definite form of recognition for those scouts who best exemplified the spirit of the Scout Oath and Law in their daily lives."

Since the valley of the Delaware was rich in Indian tradition and the site of the scout camp was an island once used in early days as a camping ground of the Delaware Indians, it seemed appropriate to base this scouting honor society on the legends and traditions of these Indians, according to the manual.

The first meetings and ceremonies of the society were held in a secluded part of the island not normally used for camping activities. In this wooded spot the founders built a council ring where all honors, including promotions in scout rank, were awarded.

As the highest honor, scouts previously chosen by members of their troops were called out before all the campers as candidates for the Order of the Arrow.

After the public ceremonial, those candidates who had previously undergone an ordeal of hard work, silence and scant food for one day were then admitted into the Order of the Arrow.

Since its beginning on that island in 1915, the Order of the Arrow has been centered in the camping program of the hundreds of councils of the Boy Scouts of America. There are now some 500 Order of the Arrow Lodges across the nation, forming an important part of the scouting program.

The Order of the Arrow is not intended to be a secret organization. Its ceremonies are open to any parent, scout leader or religious leader.

The element of mystery is Emmet Pond and Dave Collier of Rule, Arkansas were guests of the Arvin Triplets on Wednesday, of last week.

Other recent guests in the Triplett home have been Pamela Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lemons and children, Beverly and Gary Wayne, of Dawn.

used in the Order's ceremonies for its sobering effect on the youthful entrants.

The ceremonies used in the Order have been examined before their use to insure they are not objectionable to any religious group because of similarities to religious rites or rituals, according to the Order of the Arrow manual.

NEVER TAKE ANY MEDICINE IN THE DARK

Modern drugs are much more potent than past medicines. Taken when indicated, preferably with the advice of a physician, they accomplish almost miraculous benefits.

But any medicine wrongly used can be harmful. Always carefully read the label before taking one. Lock them safely away from children. Don't forget three or four 5 grain aspirin tablets are a fatal dose for an infant. Pharmacists read every label three times before dispensing. Do likewise and be safe.

Your doctor can phone us when you need a medicine. Registered Pharmacist on duty 8 a.m. till 8 p.m. daily (Sundays and Holidays 8 a.m. till 6 p.m.). A great many people entrust us with their prescription. May we compound yours?

Leonard Boehning stands by the 300 gallon dairy east of Canyon. Boehning's dairy is considered one of the top in the county.

Dairying A Family Type Business In This Area

BY JIM THOMAS
There has probably never been the time when the quality of milk has been higher than it is now.
"Cleanliness and regulations covering the collection, processing and distribution of milk have added to that quality," were the words of Randall County agent John Brazzil last week in recognition of June Dairy Month.
"Dairying in Randall County is not a big enterprise—but it is an old one. It has been going on since the early 1920's. Now we consider Randall County as the major dairy county in the Texas Panhandle.
Dairying has centered around Canyon. It has become a family business and isn't commonly an irrigation program. They have been able to use non-irrigated land.
"By using family labor, they can make a go of it. The dairymen use their summer and winter pasture and grow roughage on the rest. This lets them grow the things they can grow best.
"It has been traditional in farming families to keep one or two milk cows for family milk. Nowadays, the farmers keeping personal milk cows is decreasing.

"As a result, our country people are buying processed milk along with the city folks," Brazzil said.
Leonard Boehning, who runs a modern dairy farm east of Canyon, is typical of Randall County dairymen.
From an old family in the county, Boehning has been in the dairy business only a short time, but his dairy and farm have grown as fast as any in the county, according to Brazzil.

Outstanding on the Boehning farm is its grade A milking barn with concrete floors and drains and separate milk storage room. Boehning recently installed a refrigerated 300 gallon stainless steel bulk tank to hold his milk for the pickup truck.

Symphonic Drama Would Bring Area New Money

The symphonic drama sponsored by the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation is expected to draw a minimum of $360,000 into Amarillo and Canyon according to figures estimated by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.
Mrs. Ples Harper of Canyon, president of the foundation, said "This is 'new money' which will greatly boost the economy of the area when the drama begins its productions that are slated to begin in the summer of 1964." She spoke to a luncheon meeting of the Amarillo Rotary Club on Thursday of last week.
Paul Green, a Pulitzer prize winning playwright, has agreed to write the historical drama which will be staged in the amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon. A new Department of Outdoor Theaters has been created at the University of North Carolina according to a report from Green. Writers have been requested to help create dramas for 37 communities to date. Historical dramas have been planned for Oklahoma, Abilene and in East Texas.
"The Panhandle will lose its lead if we do not move swiftly," said Mrs. Harper.

Mrs. Harper said that it would take $100,000 to produce the show in 1964, but that of the $185,000 raised in last year's campaign, $25,000 would be available for production purposes, leaving $75,000 to be raised.
Amarillo Rotarians were treated to excerpts of "The Common Glory," an outdoor symphonic drama prepared by Green for the theater in Williamsburg, Virginia. William A. Moore, head of the drama department at West Texas State University, assisted by staff and students from the college and Canyon High School, presented the program.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Graham recently were Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Madry and son of Big Spring. Mrs. Madry is a niece of the Grahams.
